Marcus is a trial attorney who specializes in complex commercial, business, and partnership disputes. He practices in a wide variety of industries, and frequently represents both individuals and entities with their most pressing needs. His matters span across the State of Texas, and Marcus appears frequently in both state and federal court. Marcus' matters entail fiduciary duty disputes; partnership termination and wind up disputes; business fraud and theft; various contract actions and disputes; lien disputes; disputes over purchase and sale agreements, non-competes, and various other corporate agreements.

While clerking for Judge Mike Engelhart of the 151st District Court in 2012, Marcus assisted the Court with legal research and motion memoranda. Prior to law school, Marcus interned in the office of Secretary James Baker, III.

Marcus is a Texas native, born and raised in Houston.
